Prerequisites

It is strongly recommended to have passed the course of penology. To follow the course a minimum level of B1 in English is required.

Objectives and Contextualisation

The subject belongs to the specialization on "Intervention with offenders" and pretends to approach students to innovative international penological experiences that may be useful to orientate their work in the field of corrections.

Skills

- Ability to analyse and summarise.
- Applying an intervention proposal about a person serving a sentence.
- Carrying out the criminological intervention on the basis of the values of pacification, social integration and prevention of further conflicts.
- Drawing up an academic text.
- Formulating research hypothesis in the criminological field.
- Identifying the most appropriate and effective penal intervention for each particular case.
- Reflecting on the foundations of criminology (theoretical, empirical and ethical-political ones) and expressing this in analysis and propositions.
- Students must demonstrate they know a variety of criminal policies in order to face criminality and its different foundations.
- Verbally transmitting ideas to an audience.
- Working autonomously.
- Working in teams and networking.

Methodology

The course will be organized as follows:

a) Lectures, in which the professor will expose innovative practices in comparative penology.

b) Seminars to discuss readings: students will come to the seminar having read the paper and written an essay. Each student will propose a point of debate. The seminar will be structured around the discussion of the points of debate suggested by students.

c) Seminars to present the progress in the group work: each group of students (maximum of three students) will choose a topic to work during the semester. The topic should be related with a penological problem in the country of the origin of students and the work of the semester will consist of looking for good practices in comparative penology. During the seminars students will present their progress and will receive feedback from students and professor.
d) Essays in class: students will be invited to write an essay on one of the topics of the course. Students will be allowed to use any bibliographical support to complete the essay.

e) Tutorials: students need to ask for at least one tutorial to receive the advice of the professor to complete the group work.

Evaluation

Criteria of evaluation

a) Essays (40%). To produce a good summary of the reading and to discuss in deep a relevant point of it are the more valued aspects.

b) Group work (40%). The aspects most valued are: choosing a relevant topic, attention to international penological practices, extension of the references, quality of the proposal of reform, and respect for formal academic standards. 75% of the mark is based on the written work and 25% on the oral presentation.

c) Attendance (10%) and participation (10%). Participation is intended as showing positive motivation in all the activities of the course. Students that do not attend more that 20% of the sessions will not be assessed. Absences are only acceptable for illness or similar serious reasons. Absences for academic reasons should be accepted in advance by the professor.

d) Essays in classes. May increase the final mark up to 1 point over 10.
